The Beaches of Fort Myers - Sanibel Visitor Profile: 2004 Year-End Summary

Executive Summary

This 2004 Year-End Review Report focuses on how Lee's tourism industry fared over the last 12 months and what the future is likely to hold for the industry.

1. The year 2004 was marked by a robust return to profitability and growth for the industry -- that is, until the late Summer and Fall's tropical storms cut this expansion short. [January through July -- Visitation: +5.8%; Expenditures: +8.3%]. In the wake of Hurricane Charlie, the number of tourist/visitors fell significantly and the inventory was negatively affected. Yet in spite of the disruption, by year-end, almost all statistical indicators for Lee tourism had turned positive. After the shock of the storms, the industry's key tasks were to sustain recovery efforts and restimulate growth.
2. The documented track record of recovery speaks for itself. During Calendar Year 2004 (including post storm occupancy), a record 2,026,921 visitors stayed at the Beaches of Fort Myers – Sanibel (H/M/C/C), directly creating $1,164,594,233 dollars of expenditures in Lee's economy [2003: $1,127,123,775]. Once direct, indirect, and induced effects are included, the total annual economic impact equates to $1,956,168,933. Note must be taken that these effects account for all impacts that tourism's "imported funds" have on Lee's economy. The end result is the "respending" of wages, with more employees having more income to spend in Lee's economy.
3. Visitors staying with friends and relatives (V F/R) also contribute significantly to the County's economy. Last year, 1,483,974 V F/R visitors traveled to the Beaches of Fort Myers - Sanibel, spending $382,528,410 [2003 Visitors 1,454,390; 2003 Expenditures: $362,790,171]. When V F/R visitors are added to those in commercial lodgings, the total economic impact of tourism in 2004 yields $2,598,701,903.

4. In the post 9-11 period, contracting markets forced significantly lower ADR's. In contrast, in the aftermath of Charlie, Lee lodgings were able to hold and expand room rates. Although assisted by storm related occupancy, the good will effect of loyal and satisfied patrons stabilized the industry. Overall, Fall 2004 ADR's increased by 7.9%.

Lee's documented resort tax collections reflect this buoyancy. In spite of major inventory reductions, bed collections grew from $11,228,434 to $12,110,311 for the Calendar Year 2004.

5. Traditionally the Northeastern and Midwestern areas of the United States have been primary origin markets for the Beaches of Fort Myers - Sanibel. It is in these regions that the destination has its strongest brand identity. Despite the contractions that followed the Hurricane Season, these segments again were Lee tourism's mainstay in 2004. Additionally, European visitation gave an important assist in rebalancing the industry.

For 2004, the distribution of visitor origin markets is as follows:

Visitor Origin	Annual Visitor Origin Distribution
	Rel. %	Rel. %
Florida	12.6%	11.4%
Southeast	7.0	6.8
Northeast	28.4	28.9
Midwest	37.9	38.5
Canada	2.3	2.3
Europe	8.4	8.9
Markets of Opportunity	3.4	3.2
Total	100.0	100.0

6. By mid 2002, in the vortex of International currency and commodity transactions, the Euro began a steady climb against the U.S. Dollar. Although, potentially, world market forces could push the Dollar-Euro ratio as high as $1.50, the consensus seems to be stability at its current peg (approximately $1.30) for the remainder of 2005.

The above trends are of major importance to Lee tourism because the Euro's purchasing power vis à vis the Dollar has fueled much of the expansion of our foreign visitor segment. The perceived safety of the U.S. as a destination post 9/11, as well as International terrorism and natural disasters in other parts of the world have also enhanced International demand for Lee's tourism product. The current International scenario thus offers Lee unprecedented marketing opportunities critical to expanding its market share in these regions.

7. Lee's "fly" market continues to grow dynamically, led by passenger traffic into Southwest Florida International. For the twelve months of 2004, record levels of passengers used Southwest Florida International to reach Lee.

The completion of the new RSW terminal this year will further strengthen growth opportunities open to the industry.

The Beaches of Fort Myers - Sanibel Visitor Profile: 2004 Year-End Summary

- 8. As detailed in the monthly visitor profiles, the Internet has been highly effective in leveraging the brand identity and access to information about the Beaches of Fort Myers-Sanibel. Today, the destination is highly visible relative to its competitors.

By the end of 2004, almost 90% of Lee's patrons had access to the Internet, and a majority (69.9%) routinely obtained on-line travel information. Over half (53.1%) of Lee visitors bought travel products on-line and almost three of every five visitors (58.1%) rated the Internet as a "very important source" for the planning of trips to the Beaches of Fort Myers – Sanibel.

National computer usage statistics further underscore the importance of the Internet to the marketing of the Beaches of Fort Myers – Sanibel:

Activity	Age Group
	18 - 29	30 - 49	50 - 64	65+
Use a Computer	83%	81%	67%	31%
Go Online	81%	78%	63%	26%
E-mail	89%	91%	90%	93%

Get Travel Information	66%	78%	73%	63%

Source: Pew Internet and American Life Project (May-June 2004, November 2004, and January 2005)

Lee's Internet presence successfully communicated to all segments factual and up-to-date information about the tropical storms, the rate and progress of restoration, as well as the inventory and infrastructure open. Our face-to-face interviews with visitors, inquiry conversion panel surveys, and consumer hurricane impact studies document that Lee's Internet information was a very effective dialog with visitor constituencies after Charlie.

- 9. Our projections for the year 2005 identify large pools of pent up demand and visitation interest, foreshadowing a buoyant Winter Season, as well as strong Summer month bookings. The post-storm rejuvenation of the industry will clearly give a competitive edge to Lee's tourism industry in the future.
